Biography

Jennifer Henriksen is a fine art photographer based in London, Ontario, Canada. She uses film based vintage and toy cameras, focusing mostly on the Holga camera as her main tool.

Jennifer is a self taught photographer who started her work in early 2005. Her work varies between nature, urban and portrait photography. Her self portrait project has been featured on many websites and blogs, as well as one image which was selected to be one of the 50 displayed at the Krappy Kamera show in New York at the Soho Photo Gallery in 2009.

In her self portrait work, Jennifer expresses her deepest emotions and dreams by striving to create unique perceptions of her inner self. A lot of her images are created by experimenting with techniques, such as long exposures, motion blur, film grain and other in camera manipulations.
